Protection

Is the great goal to be attained; to protect your loved ones with a home all your own; to protect yourself against the humiliation of having to ask others to tide you over financial difficulties; to protect yourself against becoming a burden in old age—all of these things should arouse every one to avoid them.

The Savings Bank will insure you against all of these vicissitudes if you will heed the advice to open an account and add regularly. The money deposited earns more money all the time, and when the need comes it is ready at the moment. No other investment is as certain—you do not have to call; just pass your check to those having claims, and the money is ready.

The Savings Bank has joined the Federal Reserve System, hence is under the same control as the national banks. It is well enough to again remind the public that all banks are good; the men behind them make them so.

One Dollar starts an account.

A. B. A. Travelers' Cheques issued; good everywhere.

Drafts on all parts of the world.

Safety Deposit Boxes for rent.

LOST CHILDREN
FOUND BY JUDGE

Son and Daughter of Pio Yob
Picked Up While Wandering on Monument Avenue.

Two weeping children, brother and sister, four and five years old, respectively, were found wandering on Monument Avenue last night shortly after 7 o'clock by Judge D. C. Richardson of the Hustings Court, who was on his way home. He saw at a glance that they were lost, and promptly took charge of them. He took them to his home, 2013 Monument Avenue, but from them he could not even learn their names.

About the same time a frantic man ran into the Second Police Station, at Smith and Marshall Streets, and tearfully told Desk Sergeant Kerse that he had lost his two children. When finally asked, he said that his name was Pio Yob, a farmer, who lives near Hop No. 6 on the Seven Pines line. He said that he was walking through Monroe Park with his small son and daughter, when he met a friend and stopped to talk. In a few minutes he missed the children, and he would keep them until their parents were located. The father, when he heard the news, was overjoyed, and in an automobile patrol accompanied Bicycle Policemen Reid and Judge Richardson's home, where boy and girl—Arthur and Marion—were restored to him.

SIMPSON GOES WITH ASSOCIATED PRESS

City Editor of The Times-Dispatch Accepts Position in Atlanta.

Richard W. Simpson, for the past six years city editor of The Times-Dispatch, severed his connection with this paper yesterday, and will leave tomorrow for Atlanta, where he has accepted a position with the Associated Press.

Mr. Simpson is one of the most widely known newspaper men in the South. He is a native of Pendleton, S. C., a son of the late Colonel Richard W. Simpson, president of the board of trustees of Clemson College. His early newspaper experience was on the Charleston News and Courier. He was for some years editor of the Greenville News, and later of the Raleigh Evening Times. He came to Richmond in April, 1907, as telegraph editor of The Times-Dispatch, and in 1908 took charge of the city desk. During his residence in Richmond Mr. Simpson has made a large number of friends, who regret his removal to another city. He is a member of the Westminster Club, Hermitage and Business Men's Clubs.

In connection with his other duties Mr. Simpson has represented the Associated Press in Richmond for the past two years.

BRYANS REMEMBER
ALL OLD EMPLOYEES

Former Owners of The Times-Dispatch Say Farewell to Staff.

EXPRESS THEIR APPRECIATION

Fellow-Workers Present Handsome Watch to Colonel Allen Potts.

As a memorial to Joseph Bryan, whose influence is still felt in the paper he founded and loved, his five sons yesterday afternoon presented a check to each of their friends and employees of The Times-Dispatch. With every check was an engraved testimonial of the regard which has endured through years of unbroken confidence and fellowship, of the esprit-de-corps which has moved employer and employee to build out of The Times-Dispatch a structure that is not based on paper alone. It was a gift of remembrance and farewell.

The whole company of The Times-Dispatch, from the heads of every department down to the printer's devils, gathered in the composing room at 3 o'clock. Linotype operators stopped their machines, and for once every wheel of activity in The Times-Dispatch plant was still. It was an informal gathering of men and women who had labored together for a common purpose under a friendly bondage of set speech and formal phrase. There was none. Those whom circumstances brought forward as the spokesmen for the givers and the recipients spoke only from the fulness of their hearts—and their hearts were very full. The recent proprietors of the paper were represented by John Stewart and J. St. George Bryan.

Card With Each Check.

Before the presentations were made by J. St. George Bryan, the accompanying card gift was read by John Stewart Bryan. The card tells the story. It follows:

As a memorial to Joseph Bryan, who founded this paper, and who, through the bands of mutual regard and appreciation between all departments, out of which the spirit of The Times-Dispatch has sprung, we ask your acceptance of this token of our esteem and friendship. No matter what the future may hold, nothing can impair the satisfaction of those years of unbroken confidence and fellowship with which, supported by the staff of The Times-Dispatch, we have approached all the tasks that arose in the conduct of this paper.

In the days of struggle you, our friends, were courageous and loyal; in the hour of achievement you were constant and steadfast; when joy came to us, and in sorrow and in sorrow we had the sorrow and sympathy of our comrades and fellow laborers.

"These memories lessen the pang of farewell; they are as rare as they are precious, for they come from a true comradeship of labor and accomplishment. And, as we treasure these recollections, we trust that in may receive the full of your character and your loyalty have richly earned, and now we bid you farewell."

(Signed)
JOHN STEWART BRYAN,
JOHN COALTER BRYAN,
JOHNATHAN BRYAN,
THOMAS ST. GEORGE BRYAN,
EDWARD ST. GEORGE BRYAN.

Every heart was touched, and it was a sad company that turned their eyes to the silent room. J. St. George Bryan presented the memorial gifts, and each moved forward as his name was called. It came as a tribute that he knew each by name.

Watch for Colonel Potts.

The leave-taking was made the occasion of another gift-making. Colonel Allen Potts, former business manager of The Times-Dispatch, who is soon to accept another position, was called to the center of the circle of his co-workers and friends a moment after they had gathered, and before the other presentations were made. To James C. Drinnard, foreman of the composing room force, and next to the oldest employee on the paper, fell the task that was both pleasant and hard. On behalf of every man and woman who had labored with Mr. Potts, and through their long association learned to know him, Mr. Drinnard presented him with a handsome watch.

Mr. Potts said, in response, that he owed much to the co-operation and support which had been accorded him since he had been with The Times-Dispatch, and that the gift of these loyal friends would be highly treasured.

To the gift of the former proprietors of The Times-Dispatch, Dr. Douglas Freeman, chief editorial writer, was called to make reply. Dr. Freeman said that the sons of Joseph Bryan had been influenced in their conduct of The Times-Dispatch only by the highest ideals and by the profoundest convictions of right. "You have," he said to the two sons present, "indeed, kept the faith."

Charge Attempted Arson.
Sam Copeland, colored, was arrested last night by Policemen Herbert and Cousins on the charge of attempting to set fire to the house of Moses White, colored, of 2312 M Street. Copeland, who had been drinking, quarreled with White, and, picking up a lighted lamp, ran out of the house under the house. It was extinguished without doing any damage. Copeland made no effort to leave when White summoned the police. He was locked up at the First Station.

POINT TO ERRORS
IN BANK CLAIMS

Local Committee Shows Inaccuracies of Baltimore's Figures.

USING ANCIENT RECORDS

Speakers at Protest Meeting Fail to Recognize Richmond's Growth.

Several gross inaccuracies in the claims being made by Baltimore in its efforts to upset the designation of Richmond as the location of the Federal reserve bank for this district were pointed out yesterday by the local committee. Among the statements reported as having been made at a mass-meeting of protest in Baltimore a few nights ago, were that Richmond had a white population of 84,482, against a total population in Baltimore of 566,779, and that Richmond had 350 manufacturing establishments, as against 2,502 in Baltimore. The city directory just issued gives Richmond with its immediate suburbs listed in the directory a population of 133,000, while the statistics of manufactures compiled for Richmond for the year 1912 gives the number of plants as 512, and the number of employees as 22,571.

Members of the local committee say that they have no desire to engage in a controversy. It seems, however, that the figures of Baltimore are so grossly in error that some correction, which it is the purpose of the local committee to supply.

Commenting on the inaccurate figures given out at the Baltimore mass-meeting, members of the committee said yesterday that this was an illustration of the methods employed by those responsible for presenting Baltimore's case.

Using Ancient History.

The statement continues: "The figures used may be those given in the census, and they may be correct, or they may not. In any event, they are ancient history. Those using the figures of that time, and in that form, subject themselves to at least two imputations, both of which are bad."

"Now consider the case at the present time. The directory of the city of Richmond, just issued, estimates the population, including suburbs, at 133,000. The statistics of manufactures compiled for Richmond for the year 1912, gives the following: number of plants, 512; number of hands, 22,571. If Baltimore or any one assuming to represent her has any satisfaction in using the figures presented, that feeling of satisfaction must or should be modified to the point of rejection by the subsequent growth of Richmond."

The select committee, which presented Baltimore's case before the organization committee at Washington on January 14, made the following statement: "In the States of Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina there exist 1,802 banking institutions reporting a capital, which means everything, I assume, except savings banks. Out of a total of 1802, 1,513 have accounts in New York, 656 have accounts in Baltimore, 253 have accounts in Philadelphia, 128 have accounts in Washington, 123 have accounts in Pittsburgh, 42 in Cincinnati and 98 in Richmond."

The foregoing is copied from stenographic record.

1,110 Accounts Here.

"Now what were the facts?"

"There were 700 banks in the four States, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, which kept accounts in Richmond, and these banks kept 1,110 accounts."

"There are 1,223 banking institutions in the States of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, which States

WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE

Seventh Day Adventists to Hold Biennial Session in Baltimore.

The Virginia Conference of Seventh Day Adventists will be well represented at the biennial session of the Columbia Union Conference of that denomination, which will be held in Baltimore April 23 to May 10. Elder W. J. Stone, of Richmond, president of the conference, will head the Virginia delegation, which will be composed of practically all of the clergymen and Bible teachers in its employ. Among others who will attend from this State are S. W. Walker, W. H. Sebastian, J. B. Malloy, C. M. Kiny, L. O. Gordon, J. D. Reavis, R. C. Gardner, E. P. Dwyer, A. M. Neff and R. J. Brown. Among the cities that will be represented are Richmond, Lynchburg, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Staunton and other places.

THE WATER WE DRINK

Professor Davidson Will Deliver Public Lecture at Mechanics' Institute.

H. L. Davidson, instructor in chemistry at the Virginia Mechanics' Institute, and chemist in the State Laboratory of the Department of Agriculture, will deliver a lecture on Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the institute. This will be the last public lecture on scientific subjects given this session. Mr. Davidson will take as his subject, "The Water We Drink."

The speaker will make a popular presentation of the main physical and chemical facts concerning water, including its occurrence in nature, its elementary composition, and its principal properties. A number of illustrative experiments will be performed, among them being a demonstration of the composition of water by means of electrolysis and then by synthesis of its component elements, and the chemical effects between certain metals and water. Private and public water supplies will be discussed, and some of the methods of sanitation and purification of such systems will be described.

SUFFRAGISTS PLAN
BIG MEETING HERE

State-Wide Demonstration Will Be Held Here on Saturday, May 2, in Capitol Square.

Richmond will witness its first equal suffrage demonstration on Saturday, May 2, when hundreds, if not thousands, of suffragists from every section of Virginia will assemble here. The day will be celebrated throughout the nation, but the local leaders are planning an elaborate affair, which it is claimed will outshine that of any other State.

The demonstration will be held in the Capitol Square, the ample grounds of which will be large enough to accommodate a gathering of gigantic proportions. There will be bands of music, waving banners, and enough enthusiasm to give the movement the impetus which the leaders believe will make the cause sweep the State. Negotiations are now in progress with Senator Bryan, of Washington, and Senator Borah, of Idaho, who may make addresses to the assembled suffragists. Both are friends of equal suffrage, and the latter recently made a speech in its favor on the floor of the Senate. It is believed that both will be present, although no definite answer has been given to the invitation.

As a special feature of the day, members of the Equal Suffrage League of Virginia are planning to issue a special newspaper for that day, which is to be sold all over the State. Among those who will make special contributions are Miss Mary Johnston, Miss Ellen Glasgow, Mrs. Kate Langley Booder, and other distinguished writers. The meeting in Capitol Square will be the crowning event of the day. In addition to the addresses, there will be singing, while the bands will be stationed about the perimeter of the square to lead the music. All of those participating in the demonstration will be provided with flags and pennants, while banners with suitable inscriptions will be scattered through the assemblage. It has not yet been decided whether or not there will be a parade following the meeting.

Should Senators Bryan and Borah, or either one, be able to speak, addresses will be made by other speakers of national repute.
